THE COMPANY AND ITS HISTORY

4 Seasons Outdoor has been actively involved in Indonesia since the early 1990s. It began with the import of teak garden furniture and cane furniture. During the years that followed, an intensive working relationship developed with two large factories on the Indonesian island of Java. They were partly acquired by 4 Seasons Outdoor in 2002, as a result of which the company gained control over production and sales strategies. Around the turn of the century, 4 Seasons Outdoor introduced plastic threads, which were woven in a frame. After a period spent further developing the threads and the aluminium frames, 4 Seasons Outdoor is now offering a fantastic range of garden furniture, with a standard guarantee of no fewer than three years! This innovative approach has contributed to the huge growth of the brand in recent years, with 4 Seasons Outdoor furniture now available throughout most of Europe.

DEVELOPMENT AND INNOVATION

Product development has become a very important part of 4 Seasons Outdoor's operations. The European designers at 4SO work closely with the manufacturers in Indonesia. It is on this unique basis that 4 Seasons Outdoor takes on the challenge of surprising the market with new developments every year. The success of this formula is demonstrated, among other things, by the fact that 4 Seasons Outdoor won the most important international garden furniture prize in 2006 and 2007. In 2008, the range was crowned as the best overall concept at Dutch garden centres, while 4 Seasons Outdoor was named the 'Best Managed Company' in 2009, 2010 and 2011. In 2013 and 2017 4 Seasons Outdoor has won the B3 design award.

PRODUCTION

All the production activities of 4 Seasons Outdoor are based in Indonesia, where around 7,000 weavers work in the factories – this is the number required to meet the demand. Almost one hundred quality controllers closely monitor every stage of the production process to guarantee that the end products are perfect. After the final check, the furniture is packed and transported to customers all over Europe.

LOGISTICS AND DISTRIBUTION

By maintaining stocks in Indonesia on a permanent basis, 4 Seasons Outdoor can deliver its products directly from that country, ensuring favourable container conditions. 4 Seasons Outdoor supplies exclusively to dealers through a selective dealership system. Only existing customers who have shown their commitment to the brand and who reflect the desired image on the sales floor may be designated as dealers. A dealer agreement with 4 Seasons Outdoor forms the basis for a healthy working partnership. Support in terms of sales and service is a key part of the agreement.
